LIBRARY BOARD KNUCKLES DOWN

The Board of Library Trustees, Tuesday night, eliminated from all consideration of a site for the new library the site of the present library, the 'Rotary Park' site, and the proposed site behind the Middlesex County National Bank.

At the same time the members agreed to study the St Thomas site the Walker School site, and two others which were named during the discussions. One of the two sites named is the area adjacent to the Whitefield School, which an ad hoc committee of citizens is seeking to have the town take over for school purposes. The site is where the 1730 House used to stand, and is zoned for business. It has a little over 2 acres in area.

All members were present for the greater part of the meeting, and it was the first meeting in which the new Librarian, Leo Connors could participate. Mr. Connors recommended that the board purchase library books directly from publishers, instead of from a wholesale firm which supplies libraries. He told the board that libraries get a 35% reduction from the firm, and can get a 40% reduction from the publishers, and pointed out that 5% of $10,000 a year used for purchase of books 'isn't small'.

Also discussed by Connors was the lack of space to put new volumes. The library has been using one room of the Center School by permission, for one year for book storage. Connors noted too, that among the volumes received on Tuesday was the 'Death of a President'.

Chairman Carl Gubellini told the board he wanted a clear picture of the pay schedule for employees of the Wilmington Library as compared to other towns and Mrs Norton, Mrs Neilson and Mr Connors were appointed a sub committee for this purpose.

Gubellini asked that the board adopt as an 'operational policy' that the members refrain from 'outside utterances' and do their talking within the board. The vote was unanimous, but with some reluctance on the part of Mrs Norton.

Before beginning the discussion of possible sites, there was a general agreement that they would work towards the erection of a new library as soon as possible, and within a year if that was possible. After a library site is agreed upon the board will decide on size, etc. after which it will seek, if needed temporary space until the new library is built.

Philip Buzzell reported that there was no change concerning the Land Court decision for the St Thomas site, but that it still was possible that a decision could be made within three months.

Mrs Neilson, who proposed a North Wilmington site while the members were considering every possible place where a library might be located in Wilmington (the site turned out to be too small) told members of the board that she had had a change in her thinking for a library site qualifications, and that she no longer fully agreed with the American Library Association. She felt that the ALA precepts on library sites did not take the use of automobiles by the public into full consideration.

School Committee Meeting

Robert Tadgell, vice-chairman of the school committee, presided at the meeting of April 20, in the absence of Arnold Lanni. Several members suggested that a curfew be set and it was suggested that 11 PM be considered, at least for that evening.

The minutes of the meeting of March 23, were accepted as corrected and the minutes of April 6, accepted as presented.

The business of interviewing a candidate for assistant high school principalship was by passed until 9 PM or thereabouts and the meeting turned to a consideration of the general school supplies award for the 1967-1968 school year.

AIR FORCE CAPT. LOUIS P. McNICOLL, son of Mrs. Bella McNicoll of 740 Woburn Street received the Bronze Star Medal and US Air Force Commendation Medal, at Tan Son Nhut Airbase, in Vietnam, for outstanding professional skill and leadership as commander of a weather detachment, recently.

The awards were presented by Colonel Edwin E. Carmell, a group deputy commander (left).

Standing Ovation for High School Band

The Wilmington High School Band, playing in the William Penn High School, Newcastle, Del., was given a standing ovation, at the conclusion of their concert, Saturday night.

The 71 youngsters performed marvelously, according to the people of Newcastle. They were led by Al Graceffa, Bandmaster of Wilmington High School.

The concert largely duplicated the program of the Spring Festival of Music, of two weeks ago, in Wilmington High School, but added to the program were several numbers including a narration, Concert Digest, read by David Winters.

A social was held at the close of the rehearsal Friday evening, for the youngsters in the band, and hosted by William Penn High School students, with dancing and refreshments. The Wilmington youngsters were guests of local families, for the night, after the social, and again on Saturday night.

They toured Washington DC on Saturday morning, visiting the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Kennedy's Gravesite, Lincoln Memorial, the two Jima Shrine, and other sites.

Sunday, on the return trip, the band stopped off at Philadelphia for nearly two hours, visiting Independence Hall and the Wax Museum. Arrival in Wilmington was at 8:30 pm Sunday. School officials have commended the youngsters, for their excellent behaviour during the trip.

Harold Garrett Named Assistant Principal

Harold F. Garrett of 4 Ledge-wood Road, Wilmington, was elected the Assistant Principal of Wilmington High School, at the School Committee meeting of a week ago.

He is presently a Teacher-Coordinator of the Mathematics, Science and Industrial Arts Program of the East Boston High School, and is responsible for the schools' visual aids program, safety program and driver education program.

He and Mrs Phyllis R. CONFLICT OF INTEREST

The people of Wilmington were treated to some interesting sidelights on the Conflict of Interest law in Massachusetts, in the past two weeks.

It is quite clear that the Selectmen's intentions were good, when a majority of the board voted for a strict interpretation of the law, by making members of many boards 'regular' employees of the town.

But what they did was to penalize volunteer aids and officers of the town.

Ever since the law was passed, three or four years ago, the Selectmen in many towns in Massachusetts have been seeking to lessen the impact of the law. They have argued, rightly, that the law forces the towns to forego the services of some of their best citizens.

Nearly every year, in the Warrant for the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association there are one or more articles asking that the Legislature make the law less restrictive.

What the selectmen did was to take unsalaried officials, and put them in the same status with salaried officials. Some of those unsalaried officials do do business with the town.

To mention two instances, of not too prominent persons, and without resorting to names.

One is a merchant. He was voted to be a 'regular' employee of the town. He puts in many unpaid hours, not seeking any glory, but simply to aid his town. By the vote he could not sell any of his merchandise to the town - without being in conflict of the law - an unfair penalty.

Another person, serving on a board that was declared 'regular' happens to be an attorney. If this person had, for instance, gone down to the Board of Assessors to talk over the tax problems of a friend then this person, too, would have been in conflict of the law.

It was not the intention of the Legislature to penalize such persons, when the law was passed, and the Selectmen are to be congratulated for their recognition of this fact.

BLAME THE GLACIERS

Why do some houses have water in their cellars, in this town, while others do not?

There are many reasons, and several of them would be readily apparant only to a geologist.

Start off twenty thousand or so years ago, when glaciers a mile thick scoured the land that is now Wilmington. The glaciers eventually retreated, and as they disappeared a lot of things happened, part of which has a bearing on the question of why some cellars get water in the spring time.

The answers depend in part, on the type of soil left by the glaciers. Basically, in Wilmington, there is clay, there is rock, and there is sand. (The peat came afterwards).

Much of the sand left by the glaciers was at the bottom of ancient glacial lakes, and left areas which are flat, and level, such as is to be seen around Church Street, and Parker Street. Where the Congregational Church is today a large river once ran across the ice, and debouched into this lake. The sand, from the Congregational Church westward is very thick, where there was an ancient lake bottom.

Providing that the foundations are above the spring flood levels, cellars built in the ancient lake bottoms do not become subject to floods. The sand absorbs the water, and doesn't impede it.

But where there were no lakes, on the hills, and in the swamps, the story is different. No sand was deposited, except by odd circumstance, and the ice ground the rock, and left a very fine clay over the ground. Where there is no clay there is bare rock, as for instance on Buck's Hill, where the Wildwood School stands. Of course there is loam too, loam that has accumulated over the centuries, but loam is almost a negligible factor in the problems of water drainage from cellars.

Clay is the stuff of which dishes are made. It is impervious to water. So, too, is rock.

When a cellarhole is dug into clay, or blasted into rock, a huge dish is made, which accumulates surface water, and the fact that there is no hole at the bottom of that dish means that there is no place for the water to go.

One of the builders in Wilmington, a conscientious man, had the foundation level of all cellars at least two feet higher than the level of nearby drains. It would seem to the ordinary person, not a geologist, that this would suffice to keep cellars dry, but such is not the case, for the water, if it gets in the cellar, cannot get out.

The old time stonemasons of Wilmington knew of this, when they built cellars of field stone, and took proper precautions, but today's cellars are constructed by specialists. A man digs the hole with a bull dozer. A crew comes along and installs forms for the concrete, and another crew comes along and pours the concrete. It's more efficient but it lacks the personal touch of the old stone masons

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208 Wilmington, or call 657-7141, or 658-4865 after five. If I'm not there, I'll call you.

The big letter this week is from Sergeant First Class Alvin E. Blaisdell, who writes me from Bleilcu, Vietnam.

I received the Town Crier dated April 6 today and read the article about the letter from Gary Balsar. I don't know where in Vietnam he is stationed, but he stated that the PX at his base isn't much.

Well, all he has to do is visit my PX, of which I am the storemanager. I carry up to 1200 different line items and also plenty of reading material, and also, if he likes peanut butter, I have on hand 56 cases of Skippy, which I will sell to him at 25 cents a jar. Also crackers at 15 cents a package.

If he hasn't seen any V.C.'s tell him to visit me up here in the central highland jungles, and I will take him out and show him some.

Old Charlie hits us about three or four times a week. I enclose a picture that I took on the 13th of April. The building on the right was hit by the VCs at 2 am April 13. We suffered 3 killed and 8 wounded, and, as you can see, it can be real jumpy. I was sleeping in the building on the left, and when the shells came, it didn't take me long to get out!

It takes the Town Crier about 9 days to get to me. I'll be celebrating my 24th year in the Army on May 3rd.

Congratulations, Alvin, and I know that Gary will be interested in your merchandise. That must take some doing to keep so well stocked - Let's hear from you again!

His address is SFC E7 Alvin E. Blaisdell, US 31354497, MACV Advisory Team 21, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96318.

We are going to try to run a new list of Wilmington servicemen, and their addresses - specially those who are in Viet Nam. Send them in to me, and I'll compile them, and then we'll print them.

Many have changed, and it's time anyway. Call Nancy at 657-7141, or after 5 pm at 658-4865.

PFC John Melvin (His dad owns Melvin's Taxi) is out of the hospital, and back on the job, near Da Nang. He goes out on dusk patrols, and night patrols, looking for the Viet Cong, which is a nice way to earn a living.

I know he would like to hear from his friends. His address is PFC John Melvin, 2290718, A Co. 1st Bn. 1st Marines, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96602.

Marion Smith, of Tewksbury. I don't know the lady, but she went down to the carnival, on Main St. and lost her purse, without realizing that she had, - and it had about $70 in it!

A lady named Mrs Sheehan, of Burlington found it, and gave it to Officer Joe Cuoco, who was walking around with it for over half an hour, looking for the owner.

Marion had gone on to Reading, and finally realized that she had misplaced her purse, and started to back track - looking, and hoping, but expecting that it was gone forever.

When she got back as far as the carnival there was Joe Cuoco, still looking for the owner!

Selectmen's Meeting

The Board of Selectmen, Monday night, on motion of Mrs. Wavie Drew and seconded by Paul Niles, reversed their stand on the classification of several boards, with respect to the Conflict of Interest Law. The reversal was of a vote taken the previous Monday.

There was an almost bitter clash with George Boylen being the lone stand-out for the Finance Committee being classed as Regular, Chairman Miceli not voting. Mr. Boylen wanted what he termed a 'pristine pure' Finance Committee, and further stated that former Town Manager Joseph F. Courtney, now a professor of government at Boston University, should 'develop a code of ethics'.

Reclassified as Special, with reference to the Conflict of Interest law, in addition to the Finance Committee, were the Wilmington Housing Authority, the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority, the School Physician, the Board of Health Physician, the Attorney for the Board of Health, and the Call Men for the Fire Department.

The reconsideration took place after a short recess which followed a discussion of water in cellars, a discussion which had taken one and a quarter hours.

Mrs. Drew moved to reconsider, naming several boards, and Niles seconded. Boylen wanted to know why the Board of Health physician was being named, and Mrs. Drew said she wanted to reconsider all, to which Boylen agreed. TM Harold Melzar spoke up to say that Mrs. Drew should have moved to rescind the previous action, and to this Mrs. Drew agreed.

When it came time to re-vote the various boards there was no discussion about the Housing Authority or the Redevelopment Authority. It was a three to one vote in each case, with Boylen voting no, and the chairman not voting.

But there was discussion about the Finance Committee. Boylen said that it was unfortunate and terrible that the local newspaper editor had been discussing the subject. He hadn't read the article, but he had been told about it.

He went on to say that the Finance Committee must be 'pristine pure' a phrase that he used four times in a couple of minutes, and that the Finance Committee was an 'investigating committee' of the Town, and that over the years he had always held that it should be 'regular'.

Boylen went on to name Courtney, to which Niles objected, saying that names should not be used. To this Boylen said that that was Mr. Courtney's problem, and that he 'should develop a code of ethics'.

Niles asked Boylen if, when he used the words 'pristine pure' he was referring to anyone on the present Finance Committee, but the chairman interceded, declaring the discussion out of order.

Niles ended up by telling Boylen that he thought 'your choice of words were unfortunate' and then telling Boylen to look at the statutes which had created the Finance Committees, and how their functions were limited.

Boylen told Niles that when he (Boylen) had served on the Finance Committee they had asked the former Town Counsel, Philip Buzzell, about their powers to investigate, and had been told that the Finance Committee had these powers. After a moment he qualified this by saying that the Finance Committee could investigate on any Town Meeting Article, and to this Niles agreed.

Boylen ended up by saying that he thought it was unfortunate that the Town Crier should say that 'this was aimed at one man' and Miceli asked for the vote. It was again 3 to 1, with Miceli not voting. Then on motion of Mrs. Drew the School Physician, and the Board of Health Physician were voted to be Special. Niles then moved that the attorney for the Board of Health be in the same status as the physician for the Board of Health, and to this Boylen heartily agreed and seconded, almost joking.

After the vote William F. Smith, a Call Fireman, who was present in the room, wanted to know why the Call Firemen were classified as Regular. Miceli told him it was because of the vote that 'all others' would be regular.

Smith again wanted to know why and Melzar observed that 'they were special'. Niles said that the vote had been that anyone not special was to be regular. Boylen and Melzar observed that 'they were special'. Niles said that the vote had been that anyone not special was to be regular. Boylen then moved that the Call Firemen should be Special, and Niles seconded. The vote was in favor.

Miceli then said that the Plumbing, Electrical and Gas Inspectors should be Special, and this found an unanimous vote.

Boylen wanted to rescind the vote on the last paragraph, in the meeting of the week previous, feeling that 'all those not named' being regular was wrong.

Niles: If you don't classify them as Special, then they are Regular. To me that is a warning.

Melzar spoke up to say that when people were employed by the town he informed them of their status. Boylen's motion was not seconded.

The Meeting

The meeting opened with the reading of a letter from Eddie Forest, of the Wilmington Housing Authority. Mr. Forrest had submitted his resignation, because of the pressure of other business. It was voted to send him a letter thanking him for his services, on motion of Paul Niles.

Melzar told the Selectmen that he had written the Boston & Maine RR about acquiring the Nichols Street bridge, and that his letter had been acknowledged. He would be writing again.

He reported also that there would be a meeting at 424 Trapelo Road, Waltham, at 2 pm on May 28, on the Northeastern water supply.

It was reported that the gravel license for Hathaway Road, according to the Town Engineer, had been granted for 25,000 yards, and that the grade was not to go below two feet below the street grade. The grade was still ten feet above that of the street, and there seemed to be no reason to rescind the license.

Melvin's and Cavanaugh's taxi licenses were renewed, and Sunday licenses were granted to Vadala's Market; Friendly Ice Cream; Allick's; and Shop Rite (Ella's). Milk and Food licenses were granted to Greer's cafeteria and the Millbrook Country Day Camp.

Danny Gillis

Danny Gillis, Chairman of the Planning Board, showed up at 8:30 to discuss water in cellars, particularly at Kenwood Avenue and Woodland Avenue. He and others talked on the situation for one and one quarter hours.

Gillis had 18 spectators from areas involved when he started, and by the time he had finished there were 24. Many of the spectators had been among those who were present a week ago at the Selectmen's meeting, and next day at the Planning Board meeting.

As Gillis saw the situation there was water in a lot of cellars in many places in town, but he was there to talk about Kenwood Avenue and Woodland Road. His number one question was What can we do immediately. His number two was What can we do for the future? and his number three was What can we do to avoid this, in the future?

He described how he had been down to the two areas several times, starting as the result of a telephone call from Mrs. Helen Casey. He has now found out, he declared, that there was a place in the Kenwood Avenue area that had always been wet. It seems to him, he told the Selectmen, that there is a clay base to the area, and that even the house on the top of the hill had water in the cellar.

As he saw things, it was not a problem 'in the realm of the Planning Board' but rather 'in the realm of the Building Inspector and the Board of Health'.

Described by Gillis was a trench, in the back of the house lots, and between Woburn Street and Redwood Terrace. A French Drain, he said, has a pipe with holes in it, and an aggregate of stone, and is to drain water off from the surface. He talked of boulders, and loam being in the drain.

He described the problems of three houses on the hill, ending for the moment with a description of the Casey cellar, where water was seeping through the cellar floor.

Gillis did not blame the builder. On the contrary he declared that he didn't believe that any builder would intentionally cause the conditions which existed.

He told of Walter McNamara, of Kenwood Avenue asking for permission to pump water in his cellar into the street drains and said that this was a policy that the Planning Board had.

Are you sometimes hard-boiled about eating an egg with a blood spot? Well, in some cases you've got good reason to be. When there are large amounts of blood in the egg white, for instance, there is more than just a likelihood of bacterial infection. Luckily, though, most eggs in this condition are caught in the candling process and hardly ever reach our homes.

The other kind of blood spot, found in the yolk of the egg, isn't at all dangerous and can be safely removed. It seems after all, that in these areas, at least, there's no such thing as telling a bad yolk... 'egg-zactly'.

The Methodist Men are planning a Mother-Daughter breakfast for Mother's Day. That sounds like something - I'll let you know the details later.

The ladies of the WSCS at the Methodist Church are planning a Spring Festival between 10 am and 4 pm on May 20th, with booths, displays, and a smorgasboard, and then in the evening the Couples Club will be having a Square Dance.

A prenuptial shower was given to Miss Rhonda B Kennedy of Church St at the Wilmington Congregational Church this weekend. Many friends and relatives attended and she received lovely gifts. Miss Kennedy will become the bride of Sp4 Ralph S Pololan of Washington Ave on June 24. Ralph is presently stationed in Germany with the Army Military Police. He is looking forward to his furlough to the U.S.A. and the wedding, he'll then return to Germany with his bride.

Charlie Bowman and Hayward Bliss have been telling me of the objectives of the Kiwanis Club, about which I was most certainly in the dark.

For any of you who don't know, it is a service organization dedicated 'TO GIVE primarily to human and spiritual, rather than material values of life; TO ENCOURAGE the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships; TO PROMOTE the adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards; TO DEVELOP, by precept and example a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship; TO PROVIDE, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service, and build better communities; TO COOPERATE in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism, and good will.

The new Kiwanians will be lining up projects soon, and I'll keep you informed.

They meet every Monday at 6:45 pm at the Oar and Anchor. They now have 32 members, and would like to invite anyone interested to become a charter member. The deadline for charter members is May 29. After that new members will have to be approved by the Board of Directors.

The Charter night is to be Saturday, June 3, when the Wilmington Club will be accepted by the International Kiwanis officially.

That meeting is to be held at the Moose Hall, on North Street in No. Reading at 7:30 pm.

If you are interested in becoming a charter member, call Charlie at 658-3035 or Hayward at 658-2655. They will be taking an active part in civic affairs, and in helping underprivileged children. Hopefully, plans are being made for a Boys Club, to be in charge of Duncan McLeod, for high school boys, and one for college boys.

Do you lock your car when you leave it?

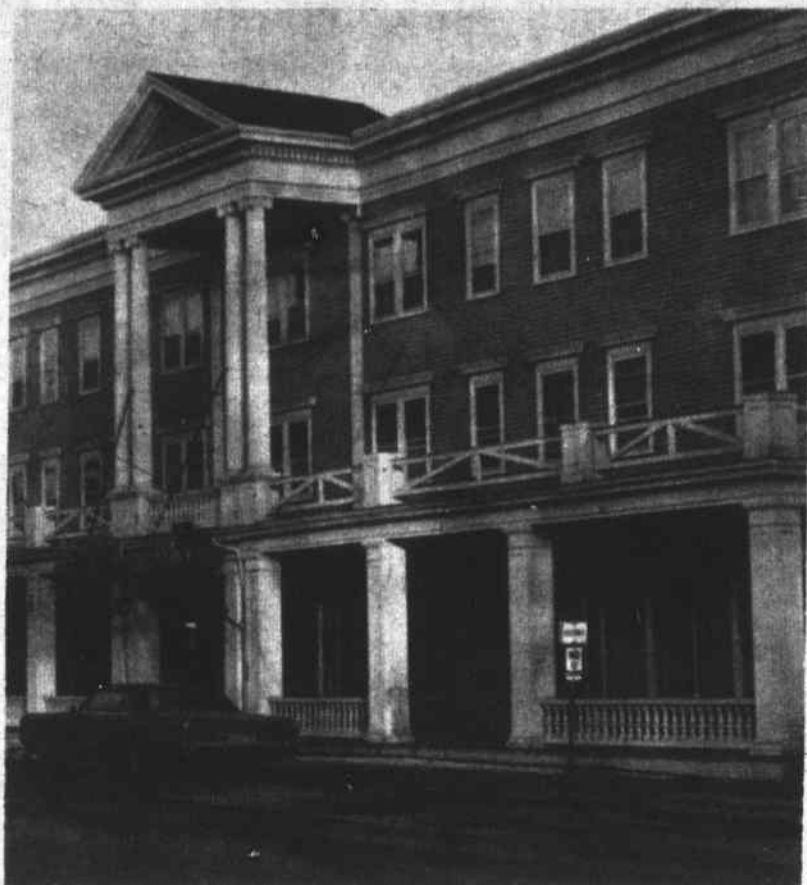

Last week Officer Herb Peterson checked out a car that was parked up on Davis Road. When he called the Police Station to give the license plate numbers, it was noted that the car was on the stolen car list.

So more investigation was in order, and the cops went through the interior of the car - and found two summons, from courts in Boston.

This aroused their curiosity, and they really began to check. It turned out that there was an Outstanding Warrant for the arrest of the owner of the owner of the car on serious charges.

When he came to Wilmington

AUSTIN PREP BOYS WERE NEW HAMPSHIRE GUESTS

Enthusiastic students from Austin Preparatory School in Reading went to the University of New Hampshire last week end to participate in the final competition of the New England Drama Festival. Among the students were two Wilmington boys, Daniel Huggard and Theodore McKie.

The play 'Twelve Angry Men' the first to be presented by the school, was shown at Austin in March. From this they were invited to participate in the Mass. Regional Drama Festival in Hingham.

Following a victory in that town the Blackfriars, as the drama club of Austin is called, were invited to register in the Mass. High School Dram Festival, in the John Hancock Hall, in the end of March. Emerging again with top honors, the group qualified for the New England Drama Festival at the University of New Hampshire on April 21 and 22. Entrants included two plays representing each New England state.

From among this highly qualified competition the play was given an 'Excellent' rating, and was chosen by the judges as the 'Best All-Around Festival' at the Festival. They are now invited to perform at Malden Catholic High School, Saturday.

FROM THE BOX SEAT

Last Thursday the Wilmington High School tracksters romped over the Lawrence Vocational, a comer to track circles, 74-39 for their first win of the season. The fact that the Wildcats had only 16 boys competing accounts for the relatively good score Voke attained. Coach Mulr's team picked off six first places in the victory, with Rollie Wood taking the shot put and Paul Zaveron the broad jump in the field events.

On the track football star Dick Doucette outthruddled the home team's entries for 120 yards; Glen Cox took the 880; Dave Knight, the third of the Knight Brothers in Wilmington track, won his third straight mile; and Hurrin' Frank Harrington came fast at the end for a fine two mile triumph. The bespectacled sophomore also competed in Wakefield's 3 mile junior marathon and finished in the top third of the field.

Wilmington managed to squeeze in a ball game last week during our monsoon season and it turned out to be their first win. The bats came alive in a 94 drubbing of Dracut High. Sophomores Billy Steber and Eddie Gillis stole the spotlight in this one for Coach Gilligan's nine. Steber did a creditable job on the mound and Gillis blasted a bases clearing home run to the delight of the hardy handful of home boosters.

UNRESERVED

Still in baseball, four ex-WHS teammates are playing college ball around New England. Mike Farrell is catching at the University of New Hampshire, Pete Emery is shortstopping at Colby, Jeff Williamson pitches for Springfield and Jimmy Gillis plays left field for the same university. For Gillis and Emery it is their second sport of the year. Jim plays football and Pete hockey.

Who ties the tourniquet around the neck of the Chicago Blackhawks each year at playoff time? ... Doesn't Rick Barry like to shoot? ... It won't be long before American fans of pro soccer start calling for wider goals, shorter fields, and anything else they can think of to get more scoring into the game.

Dear Dick Williams: Put Don Demeter at first base. He won't drop popups like Horton and won't wave at wide curves a la Scott. ... Speaking of Dick Williams. The rookie manager gets chastised for publicly knocking two umpires. Why is it these 'call em as they see em' blue boys have to be sacrosanct?

Professional ball players, as the title stipulates, get paid to play. When they play well they are cheered at the park and lauded in the papers. When they play poorly they are jeered and berated. They are well paid to take the abuse with the pralse.

Why then should well paid umpires be above criticism, public or private? They are hardly divine in origin. To err is human. Yet umpires seem to feel that their every call is unmistakably right, and any dissenters should be censured.

Whoever gets Mike Ditka gets one of the greatest ... Last years' Town Softball champs, the Newhouse Builders, have dropped out of the league ... The new ABA could ruin pro basketball with its rading, UNLESS the NBA updates its pension plan most generously and forces the Interloping loop into the minor league category.

Why must track forsake competition for record chasing in the mile? One man runs the first quarter a little faster than he can afford to to retain enough stamina to finish in the money. Another pacer then takes over and sacrifices himself in the second quarter and so on until a Jim Ryun runs the last lap alone to a perfectly timed sub-four minute clocking. What next? High jumpers leaping a barbed wire fence instead of that low incentive aluminum bar, broad jumpers catapulting themselves over a firey pit, and sword wielding tartars rampaging down the track in pursuit of sprinters?

BOOSTERS MEETING

With action on the scoreboard and banquet on the docket, the Wilmington High School Athletic Boosters will meet Monday evening at 8:00 at the home of Mrs. Francois Gruber 35 Marcus Road, No. Wilmington.

New YMCA Building Kick-off Sunday

THE MILLION DOLLAR YMCA North Suburban Family-Youth Center, which starts with a kick-off dinner Sunday. The new facility planned near the Woburn-Burlington line will serve six communities including Wilmington.

With nearly 300 workers poised for action in six North Suburban communities, the Greater Boston YMCA kicks off Sunday on its $2,650,000 Capital Fund Campaign which will provide a new million dollar Family-Youth Center, to serve Woburn, Winchester, Wilmington, Burlington, Bedford and Lexington.

Planned for an accessible location off Route 128 near the Burlington-Woburn line, the building will replace the antiquated Area Y building in Woburn. Of the overall goal, $850,000 has been earmarked for the modern North Suburban plant, and additional funds will be made available by the sale of the old Woburn building.

Target for the North Suburban communities is $315,000, much of which will come from the big gifts effort headed by Winchester's Donald Greer, and already under way. Sunday's 5 pm kickoff dinner at the Huntington Avenue YMCA in Boston will signal the start of the community solicitations by some 250 volunteers in the six North Suburban towns.

If the campaign realizes its goal the new facility will include a swimming pool, gymnasium, health club, exercise room, handball courts, club and meeting rooms and offices.

"This building will provide recreational facilities and house educational programs that can make a significant contribution to the health and happiness of families and young people of the North Suburban area" says Carl G. Roesler of Woburn, General Chairman for the six community effort.

The campaign is scheduled to end May 22. As soon as final results have been assessed, contracts for the North Suburban building will be awarded, and work begun. Once construction begins, it will be completed in about a year; perhaps as early as September, 1968.

Report meetings for team workers have been scheduled at the Trinity Episcopal Church, 533 Main Street, Woburn at 7:30 pm May 8, 11, 15, 18 and 22.

CLASS OF 1947 REUNION SATURDAY NIGHT

The Class of 1947, Wilmington High School, will have a 20th Reunion, Saturday evening, at the Holiday Inn, Routes 38 & 495, in Tewksbury.

Friends and graduates of the class are welcome. Get in touch with John Ella, 658-4401, or Fred Bischoff, of Pelham, N.H.

RICHARD WOOD SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT AT U OF MASS

Richard A. Wood, son of Atty and Mrs. Roland Wood of Frederick Drive, who is currently president of this year's Junior Class at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, was recently elected to be president of the forthcoming senior class (1968).

Richard was president of the class of 1964 during his junior and senior years at Wilmington High School.

TWENTY FIVE YEAR PIN FOR JOE CARPENTER: Stop & Shop's chairman of the board Sidney R. Rabb (right) congratulates Joseph Carpenter of 19 Stone Street, on joining the Quarter Century Club. Mr. Carpenter received a diamond pin and gold watch in recognition of his 25 years service to the chain store organization.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE (Fr. Fr. Pg.)

garding the High School Cafeteria. Several members of the Committee thought that because of program adjustments there might be over crowding in one of the lunch periods. It was suggested that a count be taken and Mrs. Fuller be invited to the next meeting to discuss this and related problems.

Harold Shea, Superintendent of Schools, introduced for discussion the feasibility of administering Binet tests to all entering first graders. As the system does not yet offer a kindergarten experience there is at present no way of assessing reading readiness with the result that individual needs can not be met until they become apparent which is often late in the school year. It is the Superintendent's opinion that this testing program would be a means to the continuation and expansion of the present Saturday Morning Reading Program.

A memorandum from Mary Boultier, Reading Coordinator, advised that results of such tests would aid the first grade teacher in developing instructional materials and more meaningful lesson plans. The memorandum also described the personnel required, suggested dates for the program and the cost of the project. It was thought that four examiners testing three pupils a day over a period of eight weeks could handle the program. The proposed dates were to be June 26, 1967 through August 18, 1967. The cost was estimated at $3,367.50. A motion was made, seconded and passed to institute this program, its total cost not to exceed $3500.

There followed a request of three members of the High School Science Department for incremental credit for their workshop in preparation of the Chemistry II Course of Study. This was granted to Margaret Lehan, John Krey and Elene Fareello.

Five new teachers were elected for the 1967-1968 school year.

A report from the Permanent Building Committee found the bids for the Woburn Street School addition very close to their own recommendations. It was mentioned that some thought would have to be given to the question of how to avoid double sessions by using existing available space until the addition is ready.

Project Head Start was given its OK for this summer by an allotment of $11,443 federal funds.

The meeting then adjourned for an executive session.

SELECTMEN (Fr. Pg. 4)

ning Board should not ordinarily allow, and that something like this should be allowed only after proper legal actions had been followed so that the town would be relieved of responsibility.

He spoke of proposals to put 'pea stone' around the base of the cellars, and said that this was something about which the Planning Board could do nothing.

Then Gillis said that the Selectmen should look into the situation, and that they could hire an attorney but that this would cost money.

In the future, Gillis declared, the Building Inspector should require that building foundations should be above the water level. Septic tanks were a Board of Health problem. He didn't think that any of the things that had happened were intentional, on the part of the builder.

Questions were asked by both Niles and Boylen, with Boylen wanting to know if the contour of the land had anything to do with the problem, and Miceli talked of how he had talked with the developer. Miceli declared that there was a 'constant body of water' at a cul de sac.

The Wilmington Town Dump is located in the southerly part of the town, off Main Street, and adjacent to the Woburn City Line. The land is owned by Mr Clarence Spinazola, who is also the contractor.

The Wilmington Board of Health is the contracting agency for the town, and supervises the operation of the dump.

The contractor is allowed to burn once weekly. Garbage is not allowed at the dump and therefore should not be mixed in with the rubbish. The contract also excludes boulders, trees, and wrecked buildings. These, however, will be accepted on a private contract basis with the owner.

Wood, and Metal, must be separated from regular household rubbish. Dumping out of town rubbish, or waste,

The dump is open Tuesdays through Sundays from 9:00

Trucks or vehicles used for transporting rubbish should be tight, and securely covered with a canvas or other suitable cover to prevent the scattering of rubbish about the streets, to claim his car, he was claimed, in turn, by the Wilmington gendarmes, and turned over to the Medford police.

The moral, of course: Lock up your car when you leave it, so no one can steal it.

I see the thermometer at the Youth Center is at $3000, the half-way mark.

This is certainly a needed and worthwhile enterprise, and I note that they are talking in Winchester of starting one down there, so Wilmington people aren't so slow!

It would seem to me that everyone in town should help to sponsor this, no matter what denomination. There is an outstanding need for a Youth Center, since there is nothing for the teenager to do in this town after supper. . . This will keep them out of trouble, we hope. Let's get behind it folks! Send your donations to St. Thomas Rectory, and more power to the people who are sponsoring this!

Frannie McLean tells me that Jimmy Jillette and Kevin Sullivan enlisted in the Coast Guard on April 17th under the Buddy System and are now stationed at Cape May,

New Jersey, undergoing their boot training. If you wish to write to them - please do - they're probably homesick as the dickens right now. Write to Jimmy, that's the only address I have right now, but I'm sure he will see that Kevin gets his mail. The address is: James H Jillette, 369135, BSK 10, Forming Co. USCG Trng Center, Cape May, New Jersey 08204

Did you ever see Jerry Rooney's Early American Furniture, down on Chestnut Street? I fell in love with it - didn't know that we had such talent in town - the pine hutches, and coffeetables, etc. are out of this world!

Chief of Police Paul Lynch probably will not attend a banquet to be held in Lynnfield next Wednesday, for the ladies of the St. Agnes Guild, of Reading.

But he may possibly want to. The speaker is to be David F. Powers, former special assistant to President John F. Kennedy, and now the Curator of the Kennedy Library.

He is a brother in law to Paul and spent many days in Wilmington before he became acquainted with the late President.

*In Spring, a

turns to love!

Well, in Harry's case (he's the brother in charge of the cleaning plant) Spring signals the time to get those rugs and carpets looking "like new" again.

Harry's hopes were given a false start a weekend or so ago, but last week, Old Man Winter hung on for one last (we hope) fling at reminding us of what he's dealt us over the past few months.

But alas, Harry is walking around like a newborn chick, anxious to get into full swing. He was even out over the weekend washing and scrubbing the trucks down so they'll make an attractive appearance when they drive into your neighborhood to pick up your rugs.

If you'd like to save a few pennies, you might even bring the rugs over to the plant or showroom and save 20% with cash and carry.

But lessons can still be learned from those craftsmen of a by gone day.

If, for instance, after a cellar is complete, clay is packed around the outside to a level higher than that of the lawn, etc., there is a good chance that the clay will harden into a protective wall that will keep out the surface water. The water will be diverted around the building, and flow to lower ground, if given an opportunity.

A second method is that of trenching around the outside of the cellar, with a drain pipe with holes in it, the so-called Orangeburg Pipe. If there is a place left for the water to flow to, the cellar will probably be clear of water.

The third method is the sump pump, in the lowest part of the cellar. This is the most effective method, and it would be interesting to know how many cellars of Wilmington have such a sump pump.

For the dozen or so families afflicted by the current crises it can be said that they are acquiring their knowledge the hard way. But it is old stuff to many people in Wilmington, who had to solve these same problems years ago - and did.

WHAT TO DO?

There are more than a few suggestions as to the action that should be taken because of the flooded cellars, and there have been some actions too. One of these is to use the town's fire engines to pump out the cellars.

The motive is praiseworthy, but there are questions as to the wisdom. Fire engines exist for emergency purposes. If there should be abrasive materials on the floors of some of those cellars there could be expensive damage to those pumps.

The price would be greater, too, if there was a real fire emergency and the pumps were not working.

If private contractors are unable to supply pumps or for other reasons are unable to do the work then the Highway Department, and not the Fire Department should be used to pump out cellars. Highway Department pumps (and they must have some) are not being saved for fire emergencies.

It is also to be noted that there have been a few suggestions that legal action should be taken against the developers. Such proposals are almost vindictive. The developers in question are already 'on the spot' and some of them at least are conscientiously trying

Wilmington Residents to be interviewed in Survey

Residents of Wilmington will be interviewed during the next few weeks as part of a nationwide survey of some 3,000 Americans, about the neighborhoods in which they live. The study is particularly concerned with neighborhood characteristics and the reasons why people move from one neighborhood to another. The survey is being conducted by the National Opinion Research Center (NORC), located at the University of Chicago. Results will be analyzed under the direction of Dr. Norman Bradburn, Associate Professor in the Graduate School of Business of the University of Chicago and Director of NORC; and Dr. Seymour Sudman, Senior Study Director at NORC.

The National Opinion Research Center, a non-profit organization, has conducted surveys all over the country for more than twenty years. The Carnegie Corp., the American Cancer Society, and the Dept. of Defense are included among the many sponsors of NORC research in the public interest.

to rectify the problems. The trouble is that nothing of real consequence can be done until the ground has dried out.

Then there are those who feel that some town officials or boards are terribly at fault. Let it be noted that it is not easy to be on such a board, in these days of expanding populations.

The Board of Health, for instance. It has always been zealous in seeing that the law is conformed to, to the best of its ability. It cannot always deny the right to build on certain lots, and it has been taken to court on one occasion because it sought to prevent erection of a building where it believed there would be a water problem. Fortunately for the members of the Board of Health they won their case, but meanwhile they had to live with attachments on their homes.

The Board of Health is not the only board that has been sued for trying to enforce regulations. Both the members of the Planning Board and the members of the Board of Water Commissioners have been in court in recent years, for upholding the law as they believed it should be, and both had attachments on their homes. One member of the Planning Board had to pay an assessed $1 damages, on one occasion. His home had been attached for $10,000.

Just to pass new laws quickly is not the answer. New laws for the regulation of home building, in Wilmington, must be based, at least in part, on a solid geological background. Otherwise there will just be more hardships.

A step that is possible is the adoption of the so-called Flood Plain type of zoning, which already exists in some towns in this state. This would prevent unnecessary arguments about proposals to build in areas that do become flooded when streams overflow. It would eliminate some of the work of the Planning Board, and of the Board of Health, and it could be a start to more comprehensive building regulations.

Eddie Rideout had a Year with the Job Corps

Eddie Rideout, son of Mr and Mrs Edward H Rideout of Truman Road is home, after a year in the Job Corps, spent in the far West. Rideout was in Arizona for six months, and in Oregon for six months, and he enjoyed every minute of it.

Eddie joined the Job Corps to get an education in mechanics, diesel and automotive. He excelled, and has a fine diploma to prove it.

He liked the six months in Kingman Arizona best. It was an old Army Air Force base, about 130 miles from Phoenix, and is also a conservation camp. Eddie was in the shops, learning mechanics, for which he has an aptitude.

Shortly after the camp was reopened for the Job Corps and as a conservation camp, a number of dignitaries appeared to dedicate the place, among them being Governor Goddard of Arizona. Eddie was chosen to tell the spectators about the Job Corps, and according to press clippings he did an excellent job of it.

After six months at Kingman, he got his diploma, and went on to Astoria, Oregon, where he was stationed at the old Navy Base, at Tongue Point.

It was, says Eddie, six months of just plain school. There were opportunities to leave the camp, but the idea was that you were there to learn. He studied another course in auto mechanics, this time specializing in Ford engines, plus a lot of general mechanics. He was given a diploma when he finished, and has since returned home.

Now Eddie is to leave Wilmington again, this time to enlist in the US Air Force. He is hoping to get training in jet aircraft, and will be leaving in June.

Tana Fairfield is Bride

In a candlelight ceremony at the Congregational Church, Miss Tana Ann Fairfield, daughter of Mr and Mrs Winston L Fairfield of North Wilmington was recently married to Robert Harold Hutton of Framingham, son of Mrs. Malcolm Wright of Salem, Florida, and the late Hubert G Hutton. A reception was held in the church after which the newlyweds departed on a Florida Honeymoon. They are now living in Framingham. Mrs Hutton attended Northern Essex Community College. Mr. Hutton is employed by the U.S. Post Office in Framingham.

ISN'T IT NICE to be able to 'Come As You Are' to the Shamrock - Whether you pop right out of your kitchen (Curlers and All) or drop by on your way to visit (All horsed up)?

You're NEVER out of place at the Shamrock, because it's just that kind of an informal place to shop.

AND YOU KNOW, GALS, one of the many nice things we hear so often is: 'Isn't it Pleasant and Easy to Shop at the Shamrock - and isn't everyone so cordial and so courteous?'

And that's the way it should be! It's just one more reason why the Shamrock has been building its very own Loyal Following for More Than 10 Years now, with So Many New Faces coming into view every day of the week.

THERE MUST BE A REASON!
